Wilson, for-petition to Asquith and regretted the merly of San Francisco, who is suite for a stand of their chief executive against divorce from Antometic Kopetski, who was Charles W. Clark, son of former Senator W. A. Clark, failed to appear yesterday in the Supreme Court for examination in supplementary proceedings. The court then signed another order directing Clark to appear on May 28, and if he does not, then a motion to punish him for contemp; will be made.

The order was issued on an unsatisfied indigment for $10,312 obtained in 1909 by Kerr & Co., a Stock Exchange firm, on a brokerage account. Clark's home is in San Mateo, Cal.
